

'There'll always Be a York county' Birthday theme

York county's centennial was observed on Saturday at Sharon Temple, the oldest public building in the county. Present were county council members, descendants of county officials and pioneer families. The celebration took the form of an entertainment and basket lunch with plenty of good old fashioned "visiting around."

A highlight of the celebrations was the adoption into the Mohawk tribe of Warden Clive M. Sinclair, reeve of Etobicoke, with the name of "Sagabawe" meaning "Director."

Sharon Temple, built in 1825 by David Wilson who established the religious sect, Children of Peace, was originally known as "The Temple of Peace." "In this age of the cold war, if there were many more 'Temples of Peace,' there would be less uncertainty in our days," said Warden Sinclair in his brief remarks.

The ceremonies opened with the singing of Psalm 100, followed by the reading of scripture and prayer. Major J. C. Boylen, president of York Pioneer and Historical Society, was principal speaker. After extending a welcome and congratulations to members of county council, he said: "In a very real sense, York is the mother of counties. Robert Baldwin represented this division of York in the parliament of Canada. Here in Sharon he addressed the electors advocating the system of local government with which his name is inseparably associated. From here, it may be said, came forth the system of municipal government, the centenary of which we are celebrating today.

"No more appropriate setting than this park, beside the Temple of Peace, could be found in York county for this occasion," he said. "In these days of concrete and steel, and milled woodwork, this Temple of Peace stands as 'Small Denomination. Large opportunity' Friends offer hope

"Good-will is news. The contribution of the Religious Society of Friends in the world today lies in a wholly new approach to areas of tension and friction, an approach based on moral and religious grounds. We are a small denomination with a large opportunity," Homer Morris of Philadelphia, Pa., told the members of the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers) who met at Pickering College, June 23-27 for their Annual Meeting.

"Most peace groups are suspected of communism but Friends so far have been free of such accusations so they are in a unique position to continue trying to find some basis for understanding between Russia and the Western world."

The book published recently by the American Friends Service Committee on "The United States and the Soviet Union, some Quaker Proposals for Peace," has been widely reviewed in the press in the United States and copies of it were sent to Canadian government officials.

Delegates from Friends Meetings in Canada and visiting

Quakers from the United States discussed at the meeting the problems presented by the lack of educational facilities and the circumvention by local laws of the citizenship of the North American Indians, the lack of rehabilitative care for patients discharged from mental hospitals, the need for rebuilding the war-shattered Meeting Houses of Japanese Friends, and the precarious position of German Quakers in Berlin, living on the edge of the East-West tension.

Board health moves out for unit

The Newmarket board of health held its final meeting on Tuesday afternoon. The work which the board of health has been doing in its six years of existence will be carried on by the newly formed York County Health Unit. The health unit is to be started in July.

Dr. J. G. Cook who has been chairman of the board of health for the past four years paid tribute to Miss Clara S. Kiltner, public health nurse who will leave Newmarket this summer. "We appreciate the fine work she has done in the schools," he said. The third public health nurse to serve in Newmarket, Miss Kiltner will be going to Weston when the health unit takes over.

"I think that Newmarket will be better when this county health unit is in operation because the surrounding municipalities will be better," said Dr. Cook.

In 1944 the health services were first started in the schools in Newmarket. Dr. Dales recalled how difficult a time the town had in reaching the conviction that a health nurse was needed. Referring to the former editor of the Era and Express, he said, "Andrew Hebb was ten years before his time. He worked hard to get a health nurse for the schools."

Dr. Cook said that the medical officer of health, Dr. Dales, has kept very efficient health records. "The extent of his records would surprise any other M.O.H.," he said. Appreciation was expressed for the work of Constable Byron Burbidge who has done as sanitary inspector and his exceptional interest in sanitation problems.

"Public health is a large field," said Dr. Cook. "It takes in work relative to health standards such as pasteurization, housing conditions, sewage and water condi-

COMPANY, UNION SIGN CONTRACT AT SPECIALTY

Management and union representatives at Office Specialty Mfg. Co. Ltd. in Newmarket this week signed a contract following some weeks of discussion. Main features of the contract are pay increases of five and four cents an hour to men and women employees respectively, the addition of one more paid holiday. The union demands were for three extra paid holidays, 15 cent increases, extra rest periods and check-off. The company originally offered increases of four and three cents to men and women and one additional paid holiday.

When there was no immediate agreement, a conciliator was called in. The company increased its wage offer by one cent for both men and women and following acceptance by the bargaining committee, the offer was put to the membership which voted in its favor.

WILMOT HILL WINS J. GIBNEY CUP

Wilmot Hill won the J. Gibney cup for the best iris in the show at the annual iris show of the Newmarket Horticultural Society on Saturday, June 17. The show, which was held in the basement of the Christian Baptist church, attracted a large turnout of local flower enthusiasts. Charles Dodson, Aurora, judged the show.

The iris show, which is never very large by comparison with the peony or gladiolus shows, welcomed entries from five society members who had never exhibited before. Mr. Howard Proctor, show committee chairman, said that he hoped this trend would continue and that there would be many more exhibitors as well as the regular ones enter their flowers and vegetables at the other shows this season. The judge complimented the exhibitors on the high quality of the bloom displayed at the Saturday show.

The Newmarket Citizen's Band won first prize in its class at the band festival at Waterloo on Saturday. The Newmarket band scored 93 of a possible 100 points. Second place was won by a band from Wisconsin with 92½ points.

The Newmarket Citizen's Band has been an active contender at festivals at Waterloo and elsewhere, and in its 80 some years of experience, has been a consistent winner. This year, the band was conducted by Bill Grieg.

The Newmarket band was entered in class three, open to bands from towns of not over 10,000 population and with not more than 35 instrumentalists. There were ten bands entered in this class, the largest in years.

The band was presented with the Waterloo Musical Society Trophy and each member received a gold medal. The band's test piece was "The Wanderer Overture" by K. L. King.

Reverse decision, Authorized to buy Main St. property

Newmarket council reversed an earlier decision and authorized the purchase of the Webb Main St. property Monday night. Mayor Jos. Vale said that the building would be ideal for the health unit. No alterations would be required, he said.

At a meeting the previous week council had passed a resolution in favor of constructing offices for the health unit on the ground floor of the town hall. The health unit is scheduled to start the first of July.

The history of the council's consideration of buying the property goes back to last fall when the library board first requested the town to buy it. Earlier this year it had been considered again as a possible location for the York County health unit. On both occasions members of council thought it undesirable to have scattered municipal buildings which would add to heating costs and said the purchase price was too high. Some members said they would like to see a new library building.

The council has been confronted with the need to acquire more municipal building space. At the beginning of the year council learned that the court offices for the magistrate and court clerk would be moved to Newmarket. These offices are near completion at the town hall now.

When it was learned that the health unit could be situated here, a search for available office space brought no immediate results. The town clerk's office was considered a suitable location but there were objections because of no immediate alternative accommodation for the clerk's office.

The health offices on Botsford St. were considered but they were too small for the health unit. A proposal for an entirely new building to house all municipal offices was made at council several weeks ago but it still offered no immediate means of escaping the office shortage. A notice of motion is yet before council recommending the new municipal building.

In the last few months council has looked over two sets of building plans, one for the renovation of the town hall, another for a completely new municipal hall on Park Ave. In the same period numerous resolutions have been passed and rescinded.

With a matter of days to go before the health unit would be due to start functioning, the resolution for new offices in the town hall was passed. This week the purchase price of the Webb property went down $2,000 to $16,800. Council reversed all its decisions and decided to buy it. Said Mayor Vale, "It could still be used as a library later on."

Voting against the purchase were Councillors Chas. VanZant and Lorne Paynter.

Councillor Charles VanZant, in protesting the decision to purchase the Webb house, argued that it was uneconomical. "We have to put a new heating unit in the town hall because of the office for the magistrate. It would also heat the health unit's offices if they were there.

"We can put the health unit office in the town hall for a good deal less than we are paying for the Webb property. We would derive more revenue from this in the long run. The purchase of the Webb property means the loss of the tax revenue."

Onetime councillor, Fred Doyle buried At St. John's Tues.

A onetime Newmarket councillor and chief of the fire brigade, Fred J. Doyle died in St. Michael's hospital on Saturday. He was buried in St. John's cemetery, Newmarket, on Tuesday.

Mr. Doyle, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Doyle, was born and raised in Newmarket. He was employed in Cane's factory, becoming a foreman there. He worked as a preventative officer for the dominion government and for the last 14 years, was employed as an inspector by the Liquor Control Board of Ontario.

Actively interested in public affairs, Mr. Doyle was member of council after the first world war. He was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters and the Holy Name Society. He was a member of the Sacred Heart church. As a young man, Mr. Doyle was an active athlete, specially interested in baseball and hockey. In more recent years, his attention was devoted to curling and bowling.

Mr. Doyle married Margaret Doyle who survives him with two brothers, Tom and Frank of Newmarket, and four sisters, Mrs. Fee (Rose), Sault Ste. Marie, Mrs. Osborne (Ann), Mrs. Duncun (Irene), and Grace, all of Newmarket.

The funeral service at St. John's church was attended by friends and associates from Builds shop in market square, Once considered 2nd Main St.

It may be the start of a second business street on a small scale. A few years ago one of the best topics of town council and barbershop discussion groups was a second Main St. along the former Metropolitan railway right-of-way. The plan was fought down. Anyway Mr. J. W. Bowman is building a store in this area between Botsford and Timothy Sts.

Although it is a small shop in comparison to most Main St. stores, Mr. Bowman says that there are many types of businesses which could locate on a secondary business street and would find a small shop suitable. The store is on the south side of the market square opposite the town hall.

It is noted that many towns similar to Newmarket such as Lindsay have small secondary streets parallel to the main "stem."

"Although Mr. Bowman does not wish to create excitement about a second Main St. or a land boom, he believes his idea will work out. He had the property wanted to use it as a store. Why not? It was going to be a garage," he said. "It turned out to be a store."

A reading titled "Be the best of whatever you are" given by Margaret Richardson and a piano solo by Mildred Richardson were very much enjoyed.

Mrs. Wicks, recently returned from England, gave us a travelogue of her trip. She gave us some very interesting facts of the conditions over there. She says the people are getting very tired as they have had such strict food rations for so long and that most of their wages go into taxes. She said the children in England are well cared for through a system in the schools when they serve them their meals with the proper vitamins added. The roll call was answered with "the most interesting place I visited." Meeting closed with God Save the King and a

VEGETABLES TOO
GOLDEN GLOW
says
Well, here I am again, and I am still keenly interested in gardens and want to write another little bit along that line, even if I said last week I'd change the subject. All those other things can have their turn when we have no flowers in our gardens to tell about. You see I have something a little off the regular line this week to write about. I told about wild flowers last week and the beautiful wild orchids; this time I want to tell about several splendid vegetable gardens I have seen lately.

At the garden tea held in the beautiful grounds of Mr. Aubrey Davis, at the top of Millard Ave., we were privileged to go through a rustic gate west of the rose garden and along a path beside the orchard, through the part where a few years ago
Mr. Davis tried his hand at re-forestry with the result that now he has a "plantation" of beautiful young evergreens, already quite a bit taller than I, along a path leading to that delightful little grove of fine tall trees I've so often written about. What I am trying to say is that we pass through part of the vegetable garden, and I assure you, folks were keenly interested in it - rows and rows of vegetables of all kinds, not a weed to be seen.

There were also long rows of iris of a beautiful pale mauve shade that roused the envy of everyone who saw them. There were iris flowering in such unexpected places everywhere, and all along the fence to the grove are flowering shrubs—hawthorn, sumach, flowering currant, etc.,
and in the orchard the two sleek, fat Shetland ponies, the pets of all the younger generation in former years, now spend their declining years in comfortable surroundings.

There were still a few annuals in the hot-bed, awaiting trans-planting. Oh what a satisfying garden it is! And now I've had an invitation to see another splendid vegetable garden, and I must say it too was most satisfying. Not a weed anywhere.
Rows of every known vegetable, with a new asparagus bed ready for cutting next year. Such to-matos and such green peas — potatoes in flower already. Great long rows of gladiolus, 12 or 15 inches high this early. Oh yes, there were flowers as well — and bridal wreath all along the edge of the lawn. Lettuce and radishes and onions, beets and carrots, corn, too.

It does your heart good to see such a splendid vegetable garden right in the heart of the town. It reaches from Tecumseh
St. more than half way to Queen St. It is the garden of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Miller, 6 Tecumseh
St. — and it was quite a treat to be allowed to see such a weed-free, flourishing garden, all so orderly and the rows so straight.
Right opposite, you can see the most inviting pleasure garden of Dr. and Mrs. Peever, through the decorative picket fence. You can see the huge garden umbrella and garden chairs and flower borders. We used to be able to see Dr. and Mrs. Case's lovely garden through their picket fence behind their home on Park Ave. but since the new parsonage of Trinity United has been in process of building, we can see it no more.

Mr. Elgin Perrin's garden on Gorham St. is always a picture—and this year his tulips and early spring flowers were no exception. We are sorry to hear that Mr. Perrin himself has been on the sick list, and not able to enjoy his garden as in former years. We hope he will soon be back in his garden in good health once more.

I want to add a few more words to tell about the lawns and flower gardens up around Indianola Beach, Lake Simcoe, where I was privileged to be one day this week. Mr. and Mrs. F.
Chandler always invite our church group up to their summer home for an annual picnic, and when one looks back to early days it is amazing how people and Mother Nature have literally "changed the wilderness to a garden of Eden." You do not have to look back many years to recall the opening up of that section of the shore of Lake Simcoe. Mr. and Mrs. Chandler were among the first to build in that section and their summer home is one of the most attractive along the shore.

Mr. Chandler has built a sort of arbor as an entrance, and a shelter for the car from the sun.
Years ago he planted a grapevine and that small beginning has now grown to wonderful proportions, literally covering the trellis-work, but it is the blossoms on that grape-vine that amazed me. The arbor must be six or eight feet long, and the vine covers it completely. If all those blossoms set they will have a good crop of grapes. We told time by his sun-dial, as we did last week up at Mr. Aubrey Davis' home; but we remembered we were on D.S.T. and sundials naturally run on sun time.
If the out-of-doors surroundings at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs.
Chandler were attractive, what can we say of the grand wood fire Mr. Chandler built for us in his big fire place?

Canada and the United States.
As he prepares for the July 1 opening of his 1950 summer series of musicals at the Red Barn, Mr. Doherty presents one of the best cases of his theatrical career in collaboration with Roy Wolvin, young Montreal actor, director and composer well known in New York. Together they intend to stimulate Canadian laugh-reactions with new and fast-paced comedy acts, sparkling novelty songs and dances.

With the showmanship which ensured the success of his numerous Canadian and American tours, Mr. Doherty has spent more than a year and a half assembling the Red Barn company from hundreds of young Canadians auditioned for beauty and talent in cities coast to coast.
The result is a group of 25 top-flight professionals prepared to sing and dance their way through comedy acts from the pens of some of Canada's foremost stage writers.

BRIAN DOHERTY

Mr. Doherty became a qualified lawyer in 1929. In 1937, his play, Father Malachy's Miracle, was produced on Broadway.
Then came the war, and on discharge from the RCAF, Wing Commander Doherty forsook the law to devote full time to the theatre.

Pages from the Editor's Notebook

The centennial celebration at Sharon Temple on Saturday was a pleasant affair and not seriously inconvenienced by the heat. A larger crowd might have been more gratifying to those who prepared the celebration, but had the crowd been larger, there would have been less of the homey, easy-going atmosphere of neighbors visiting and old friends renewing ties.

We think it must have been educational too for a good many residents of North York who have driven time and time again by the old Temple without in the least realizing its significance and place in the county's history nor aware of the treasures of the county history which were contained within it.

It was a revelation to us to hear it described as the oldest public building in the county. Osgoode Hall is the oldest public building in Toronto and the Temple pre-dates it. The century and a quarter which has passed since the building of the Temple was undertaken is a fair measure of our comparative youth on this continent and must seem merely a passing phase to visitors from abroad who are accustomed to monuments of a thousand years' duration. But if the Temple dates the county as an infant, historically, we can at least feel it is a lusty, growing infant with some remarkable accomplishments in its 100 years of existence.

Some 70 percent of Ontario industry lies within its borders. Its council is the fourth largest legislative body in Canada, exceeded only by the Federal house, and the legislatures of Ontario and Quebec. Its assessment, some $227 million, is the largest county assessment in the province and its population, excluding Toronto, of 400,000, is also the largest. Including Toronto's population, York county has one-quarter of the population of Ontario within its limits.

We enjoyed the Indian dances although afterwards, we were somewhat disillusioned.

The committee in charge had tried to have Lake Simcoe Indians for the performances but without success. The Indians who danced on Saturday were Mohawks from Osewiton near Brantford and were members of the All Canadian Indian Variety and Theatrical Troupe under the direction of A. T. Middleton, better known perhaps as Chief Fighting Wolf. He told us that he had been born on Lake Simcoe but that members of the troupe were from Brantford.

The undoubted star of the performance was a little Indian girl, Sun Flower by name, and never was there a more appropriate choice. She gave us a solo dance and then with a gesture that reminded many of a very young Barbara Ann, blew a kiss to her admiring audience. The response made the leaves dance in their turn.

And it was a colorful scene too when members of the Queen's York Rangers paraded in the uniform of the regiment in 1799. One becomes accustomed to seeing old costumes and uniforms on dummies or neatly folded in museums. When they are filled out by flesh and blood they make a brave show.

As pleasant as Saturday was, however, we continue to feel that the centennial is not being given its due, unless of course, there are other events in the planning stage. York county is far too important a unit in the provincial, indeed the federal, picture that its centennial be dismissed lightly. We don't think for a minute that pageants and fire works and all the other trappings of public birthdays are themselves an objective, but they do help to firmly implant in the minds of all who witness them something of the meaning of the event.

York county has had a brave history but for most of its residents, it continues to remain a closed book. The York Pioneer and Historical Society has done much to reawaken the glories of the past, but its labors are too frequently ignored.

The Editorials:

Citizens Band wins again

In its 80 years, the Newmarket Citizen's Band has been a frequent winner at music festivals. On Saturday, under the baton of Mr. Bill Grieg, it won again, taking the first prize for bands from centres of less than 10,000 at the Waterloo Musical Society Band Festival. It was a close contest as the marking would indicate. Newmarket scored 93 points of a possible 100. A band from Wisconsin, U.S.A., had 92½, and the Leamington band had 91. There were ten bands entered.

The earliest records of the Newmarket Citizen's Band are dated 1870. About 1885, a complete set of new instruments was brought out from England. Mr. Tom McDonald was the leader and Mr. E. S. Cane, the secretary at that time. For several summers, the band used to play one evening a week at the different school grounds, carrying with them coal oil torches on poles by which to read their music.

At one time, there was a band stand at the top of Main St. hill, where the Dales apartments now stand. One of the earliest bands wore frock coats, with wide brim soft felt hats with large white ostrich feathers on top.

The band has always been a popular institution in Newmarket, and its summer Sunday evening concerts in Lions club park are enjoyed by many. Recently, a band platform was built in the park. Now the band is anxious to see a shell built over the stand so that the music will be heard better, and lights so that darkness will not halt the concerts. There is talk too of placing seats.

These sound like worthwhile undertakings. The band has demonstrated its quality, as if there was much doubt among the townsfolk, and it is only reasonable to provide the facilities so that their music can be the more enjoyed.

The York Pioneer and Historical Society acquired the Temple of Peace at Sharon in 1918 when a number of public spirited citizens subscribed towards its purchase price. Since then, it has been maintained by the society as a museum of county history. It is a happy location. The Temple is, of course, unique in its construction, and it illustrates a chapter in the life of North York. It is the oldest public building in the county.

Unfortunately, as was revealed in the address of Maj. J. C. Boylen, president of the York Pioneer and Historical Society, the building is in the need of repair and some consideration must be given to restricting its contents to relics of immediate county interest. He said:

"We have sought to maintain it (the Temple) as a pioneer museum. We quite agree with those who point out to us that such a museum should not be a dumping ground for unrelated objects. Neither should it be a place where people send things they do not want to keep themselves. But with our limited resources, our plans have to be worked out gradually. Our great and immediate responsibility, we feel, is to maintain the fabric of the building itself. A number of persons already today have mentioned the need for repairs. We are only too conscious of this need. We hope that in York county may be found those who will come to our assistance in what is becoming an emergency situation so far as this building is concerned."

It is a hope shared by all with the interest of the county at heart. The society itself could possibly contribute more if there was a determined effort to publicize the Temple and its contents by the many thousands of tourists who drive up Yonge St. and the third concession. Their admissions could be made a major share of the cost of repair.

The future of the market

The ground floor of the town hall has been used by the weekly farmers' market for years. Now its renovation into offices for the health unit is contemplated. If this is carried out, where will the market go? We know of no alternative site except outdoors in the square where portable booths with roofs could be set up. This would be practical in the warm weather only.

The possible eviction of the market raises the question: Is the market worth keeping? Apparently "yes" in the opinion of the East Gwillimbury Federation of Agriculture. The executive recently passed a resolution directed towards the improvement of the market. This is, to the best of our knowledge, the first indication in some years that a farmer's organization was interested in maintaining the market.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of these activities which rest on individual choice.

Office Cat reports Catnips By Ginger

There's much talk about store closing, opening and holiday hours these days. Your favorite cat correspondent has taken it on himself to make the 1,071st rapid survey of retail establishments on Main St.

These are the findings. 92 percent of all the merchants are definitely in favor of all-day Sunday closing. The remaining 8 percent said that they really had nothing against these hours but that they wanted to make sure all merchants were in favor of it before they would make a definite statement.

In a quick gallup down Main St. it was discovered that ten merchants have been secretly putting arms into a cache. Their plan is an uprising in Ottawa to force an order-in-council whereby all statutory holidays which fall on Saturdays will fall on Tuesdays so that they can be changed to Mondays by local authority so that a petition may be circulated supporting store closing hours for late Friday night.

Co-ordination and co-operation was being preached by one of the radical Main St. merchants on a street corner. He was assassinated this morning. The suggestion made by your correspondent that a Chamber of Commerce be formed again was considered by most as sheer effrontery.

Since the news came out Tuesday morning about a stock market slump over the Korean war, one merchant has been remaining open until 8 a.m. when the night watchmen get their pay and come down town on mad spending sprees. He has been branded as an opportunist.

The story of the bank hold-up and shooting is over but an-

I see in the Newmarket Journal (England) that Herbert S. Gray's Super Fun Fair is coming to town at Depot Field, Newmarket. Some of the features will be the 1950 Dodgmen, American Whip and all of the fun of the fair for young and old.

Let us here in Newmarket there has better luck than we there has better luck than we in Newmarket had about a certain circus a few weeks ago. It is long enough since past to mention in print that a lady wrote in a letter of comment which was legally unprintable. Riot tendencies among our citizens have now subsided.

by "Back Concession" The Top Six Inches

We would like to thank the person writing under the name of "Bluenose" in the Era and Express of June 23 for his kind remarks. We had hoped that our farm column would be read by some of our urban friends.

It is very gratifying to note that this study group in the city took time to discuss one of our farm problems. A few years ago farm forum study groups were started. Our subjects for discussion were what might be termed close to home such as crop production and stock raising. After a few years, our subjects for discussion have assumed a wider range and sometimes are, as some farm people complain, too hard to discuss.

Marketing and food export are very difficult to understand. Our farm forum subjects are tried out in a panel discussion group. Notes and part of their findings are printed as a guide. The farm people have one week to study and prepare the subject. Our groups are never more than seven people. This is so that everyone must pass his opinion.

Here is one reason why our farm forums do not go in some school sections. It is surprising how little reading is done in some farm homes. In some homes, you would never see a magazine or book, while in other homes, reading material has to be cleared off the chairs before you can sit down. A man whose business takes him into farm homes made this comment: "That in a district where there was an active farm forum, it was very easy to talk to the farm people. Each day in our schools, the children's lessons become harder and so with our farm forum subjects:

Sutherland's church, Bradford, is closed after being in use continuously for 90 years. The ground on which the church stands was deeded to the Methodist church in Canada in December, 1835, by Mr. Sutherland. The first church was a log building, then a rough-cast and the present brick building was erected in 1876 and was opened by Rev. Dr. Potts. The closing services on Sunday were conducted by Rev. Dr. Harper, Aurora, and Rev. Geo. Lawrence, Clarkson.

Miss Anna Dow has resigned her position on the public school staff. She has accepted an appointment on the staff at Ottawa, her home city.

Mrs. (Dr.) Rutledge has received the appointment of organist and choir leader at the Christian church.

On Tuesday evening a farewell social was given to Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Dunlop in the basement of the United church, Queensville. An address was read by W. H. Eves and a purse of money was presented by Max Butt. Rev. J. C. Cochrane gave a humorous address.

Rev. J. C. Cochrane leaves next week for his pastorate at North Bay and preaches his farewell sermon on Sunday evening. Rev. W. L. Lawrence, Toronto, former minister at the United church, Newmarket, is going to Sault Ste. Marie.

Sergeant Hounluck, Toronto, was at Island Grove this week making arrangements for a Catholic Boys' Life Council camp. There are 150 boys with their leaders coming on July 2 to stay 40 days at Island Grove Park.

A number of people visited Mr. E. Jackson's conservatory at the Bowery last Tuesday evening to see a night blooming cereus in flower.

Although the weather was threatening last Tuesday evening, the Presbyterian garden party held on Silas Armitage's lawn was very successful. Four hundred attended and proceeds were $70.

Mrs. O. J. Wilson went to Whitby to see her daughter, Miss Elva York, graduate. They both returned home on Tuesday.

On Tuesday afternoon the students at Newmarket high school presented Miss Starr, who has been the science teacher for two years, with a gold plated clock. Miss Berte Wesley read the address, Clarence Grandy made the presentation and Morley Cody presented Miss Starr with a bouquet of red and white roses.

Recent visitors in Kettleby have been Dr. and Mrs. Butler, Mr. Frank Butler, Mr. Wm. Blackburn, Mr. Jos. Lemon and Mrs. T. M. Howard, Toronto. Mr. C. Penrose, Pine Orchard, held a bee on Tuesday and succeeded in getting nearly all the brick he required for his house drawn from Aurora.

An Aurora Opinion

By DOROTHY BARKER

Aurora Editor

Having had the use of a free parking area right on Yonge St. for the past two years, local drivers refuse to pay a quarter to park long enough to buy the weekend groceries.

Mary Caruso has been most generous in allowing her property to be used as a municipal parking lot. However she has to eat and pay taxes and it is understandable that she should consider it necessary to obtain some revenue from a lot situated in a high tax area.

What the parking solution in Aurora will be is as vague today as it was some weeks ago when council was notified the property was no longer available as a free parking lot.

Saturday, shoppers were curbed parked solidly the entire length of the shopping district on Yonge St. and for blocks on every side street.

At one time the air took on an indigo hue when an American hailed a pedestrian and asked where the municipal parking lot was situated. Precious American cash, which might have been spent in Aurora, stayed safely in the wallet of the tourist as he departed northward. He cruised for a few blocks looking for a space to park the custom built job, and then quickly pulled out of town.

Tourists take a dim view of parting with a quarter to park ten minutes, or even a half hour, which is about the time it takes to pack away a meal or purchase a Canadian product. Naturally his expressed ideas about parking were hardly complimentary to our town.

Poor parking facilities can ruin not only the tourist trade but the local shoppers are finding it just as easy to drive a few more miles to where you get ten minutes parking for a penny.

Meters are of course not the perfect answer to this problem, but they do remind the public that minutes are flying with the result that parking space is constantly being made available. Local drivers know that during the congestion of weekend traffic, two constables cannot check cars for a 20-minute parking limit. They take advantage of this situation with the result that it is a miracle if a space large enough to park a baby buggy can be found on Yonge St. from early Saturday morning until late at night.

Council has the problem under serious consideration and no doubt has found a solution. In the meantime, several merchants have voiced the conviction a free lot is the only answer. It would certainly bring more outside dollars into local circulation than were known to have changed hands last Saturday.

YORK COUNTY

In Review 1615 - 1949

This is another of a series of articles on the history of York County, edited by Hugh Griggs, Mimico, from information compiled during the past four years by W. G. Goddard, staff member of Weston Collegiate Institute and Vocational School. York County celebrates its centenary this year.

Dr. William Warren Baldwin built Spadina House on the hill near where Casa Loma is now situated. From it ran a private road lined with chestnut trees which is now Spadina Ave.

In the same year it was decided that Osgoode Hall should be the permanent seat of the Law Society of Upper Canada.

Trinity church, Thornhill, was completed in 1830 also. The grave of Lt.-Col. Moodie, killed in the Rebellion of 1837 while attempting to dash through the rebel lines to warn Toronto of an attack to be made on it, is to be seen in the churchyard.

The first ploughing match in Canada was held in the Township of Scarborough on the farm of Robert Stobo. J. Torrance and A. Glendinning were the principal contestants.

The first post office in the Township of Scarborough was established on Lot 19, Concession 3D, along the Markham Road. Peter Secor was the first postmaster.

In 1831, the Mechanics' Institute was established as a means of education and cultural development for those engaged in trade and business.

The Typographical Society, the first trade union organized in Canada, was formed on October 12, 1832, at York. Membership consisted of 24 printers.

The General Board of Education was replaced by the Council of King's College, the following year, and the third Parliament Building was completed.

First V.C. Winner Alexander Roberts Dunn, born at York, son of the Receiver-General of Upper Canada, was the first Canadian to win the Victoria Cross. As a lieutenant in the Eleventh Hussars he rode in the charge of the Light Brigade at the Battle of Balaklava, 1855. His heroic actions in this famous engagement won the award for him.

First toll-roads in the Province of Ontario were established in the County of York. Yonge St., Kingston Rd., and Dundas St. were placed under the supervision of a board of five trustees. Government loans of $200,000, 2,000 pounds and 1,500 pounds were advanced to improve these three highways. Toll revenues were to repay the loans.

Osgoode Hall was enlarged by the addition of a series of chambers occupied as living quarters by students and barristers.

In 1834 the Town of York was incorporated as a city and made a self-governing municipality. The name was changed to Toronto. The Act of Incorporation was passed by the Parliament of Upper Canada on March 6, 1834.

The first municipal election was held on March 27, and all male householders, tenants or owners, had the right to vote. In this election William Lyon MacKenzie was chosen the first mayor.

The extent of the city was the area on the mainland within its boundaries, Toronto Island, Toronto Lagoon, Toronto Harbor, Ashbridge's Marsh and Lake Ontario, South and West of the

HARNESS RACES IN SUTTON FOR JULY 5

The Sutton Kinsmen club has announced that July 5 will be Sports Day in 1950 and that the first Wednesday in July will be an annual sports day in years to come. Harness racing is featured this year and purses of $200 are offered. Between the harness events, the Kinsmen have arranged pony races and with these two features, the track is expected to draw a large crowd.

In addition to the events for track fans, other sporting features are planned for the infield. Amusement concession owners have shown considerable interest in the day and games and amusements are certain to fill a large part of the grounds.

At the Kinsmen's meeting, a long discussion developed over the pros and cons of including a legal gambling set-up in the arrangements. It was decided to do without the extra profits that could be had by operating race betting on the harness events.

On the evening of Sports Day, the centre of attraction moves to the Red Barn Theatre. Through the kindness of Mr. Brian Doherty and the "Barnstormers", the gross profits from that night's show will be turned over to the Kinsmen club. The company is doing "Crazy With The Heat", an original musical revue.

AID CHILD PATIENTS

The Aurora Business and Professional Women's Club is collecting comic books and children's picture books for the patients at the Aurora Ontario Hospital. They will also distribute candy to the inmates. Any contributions to this worthwhile cause may be left at Scanlon's Bakery.

SMALL DENOMINATIONS

Meetings all over the world, a practice dating back to the early days of Quakerism in the 17th century England, it was stated that "in this world the bustle and business we are to lead dedicated lives with their necessary periods of prayer and meditation, we must learn to practice the presence of God by living simultaneously on two levels; on the surface concerned with our daily tasks; in our depths constantly giving prayer and praise to God, as Brother Lawrence and more recently our own Thomas Kelly have described. Only so will we receive the perception and the strength to handle creatively the concerns whose urgency has been laid before our sessions."

Howard Clayton of Norwich, Ont., was again appointed as presiding clerk for the joint sessions of the three branches of Friends who gather at Pickering College. Mabel Willson of Welland, Ont., Stirling Nelson of Niagara Falls, Ont., and Francis Starr of Newmarket are the clerks of the separate branches.

The Rev. James Finlay, pastor of Carlton St. United church, Toronto, reporting on Friday evening on a conference on the church and war held in Detroit, Mich., in May, 1950, said: "The Detroit conference gave the answer to the alternative of pagan nationalism, an answer which the world expects of the organized church." The Conference called upon the church to "repent of war-making" and advocated that "individual Christians and the church support the use of the methods of reconciliation and non-violent action, such as Gandhi has demonstrated in our time."

SHOPPING WITH BETTY

Has original from show

By BETTY BRAMMER

No one can say Newmarket is behind the times as far as fashions are concerned. Eve's Ladies Wear has one of the original dresses that was shown at the King Edward hotel, Toronto, a few weeks ago. It is beautifully made of black nylon marquisette over taffeta. The slip could be worn alone, the bodice is beige taffeta covered with black lace and fits like a dress.

The overdress has long sleeves caught at the wrist by a band. The shoulders are of lace which extends down the length of the sleeve. The neckline is high with a small bow at the front and a single dome fastening at the back. A really beautiful dress.

IT'S A Woman's World

BY CAROLINE ION

Strawberry time is here in earnest. Our first joys at having a strawberry patch have simmered down considerably. No longer is there a heady delight in the prospects of luscious, ripe fruit fresh from the garden, but in actuality there is a hearty back-ache as the dream reaches realization.

Nevertheless, it still seems wonderful that all the family can eat of these berries and have lots left for jam and canning just for the picking.

As we are growing up most of us form an idea of what we want in our future homes. For as long as we can remember, our plans have been for a house in the country or on the outskirts of a small town with a garden. (No doubt because we lived in cities through childhood and adolescence.)

But the important part was the garden. Some people want a swimming pool included in their dreams; others are satisfied with a picket fence enclosing a simple flower garden, but we wanted a strawberry patch. Of course there were to be other requirements. We were not to be that easily appeased, but the strawberry patch was awfully important. So when we complain about the job of picking it is only in a half-hearted fashion for actually we love every back-breaking minute of it. For awhile we seriously considered declaring war, not cold or lukewarm, but decidedly of the hot variety on our so-called little feathered friends, the robins. "Robbers", would be a more appropriate name for them. No wonder they have red breasts after devouring so many strawberries.

We tried several ways of discouraging their activities but without luck. Finally, we had to take down the improvised scarecrow for it made an excellent perch for the robins. They would sit there casually surveying our strawberry patch and make their selections of just the reddest, plumpest berries. We even went so far as to offer them the regular commission per box for picking them for us, but no, they were uninterested. Robins, it would appear, are independent operators.

During the past few days we have managed to keep up with them in the harvesting of the strawberry crop. Perhaps it is but a temporary lull in hostilities while the robins bring up reinforcements from the rear. Wonder how they like black currants, raspberries and cherries? ? ?

Even if your Mary or your Johnny have never been in an oratorical contest before, why not let them try out in the public speaking contests to take place at the Canadian National Exhibition?

Cash awards totalling $125 will be presented to winners in the elementary grades of 6, 7 and 8 according to the C.N.E. prize list.

Open to any Canadian school child, entry forms for registration may be obtained now by writing to the Women's Division, Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. Deadline for entries is July 15.

Contestants may choose their own subjects, Kate Aitken, director of Women's activities, explains. Competitions take place at the Exhibition the afternoon of August 29. Each contestant is allowed three minutes. Any number of pupils from any one school may compete.

Happy Holidays

By HOWARD MORTON

Next week is holiday time for most of the people in Newmarket and Aurora. We've been taking a little holiday too. In fact, we're jumping the gun and cutting our column now. Truth of the matter is that while it's lots of fun, and there's a real kick to seeing your efforts in print, this column writing business is no easy chore.

Anyway, we've been so darn busy getting ready for the holidays, that we just haven't had the time.

But here is a reminder. Have your car given a thorough check before you take that holiday trip. It will save you a lot of bother at a time when you should be carefree.

That's what we folks are in business for—to save you bother and trouble by regular servicing of your car.

We've been busy, but we're never too busy to give you the kind of service you want. You know where we are, at the Texaco Station—just as you enter Newmarket on Eagle St.

Happy Holidays.

Sandwich time again

On hot summer days everyone has an excuse to be lazy and the housewife can be lazy about food too. Man-sized sandwiches are the solution to suppers which are prepared quickly and easily. The housewife can keep cool making them because little or no cooking is required. When the family supper is served picnic style a variety of tempting sandwiches may be prepared, all taste-appealing but appetite-appealing too. A "Dagwood" or a "club" sandwich can be enjoyed by any member of the family from father to the teen-agers. An excellent combination for this type of sandwich is ham and lettuce on one layer and lettuce and tomatoes on the second layer. Another variation is cold sliced meat on one layer and pickle relish on the second.

Mrs. Housewife should try varying her sandwiches by using buns and rolls instead of bread. For the next picnic supper a weiner roll may be split, hollowed out and filled with chicken or salmon salad, or a hamburger bun may be filled with cheese, sliced tomatoes and crisp bacon. A broiled wiener, of course, is a "natural" for a long soft roll, and a variety of spicy chili sauces, pickles, mustard or relishes are the finishing touches necessary for this repast. If a hamburger bun is to be used the old-fashioned "Denver" filling of scrambled eggs which has onions and diced ham added to it, is always in demand.

Grilled and toasted sandwiches are hot and tempting. Hot fillings on bread or buns are another form of hot sandwiches and French toasted sandwiches are a third alternative not forgetting of course the hot meat or chicken sandwich served with gravy. Practically any sandwich may be grilled or toasted.

BOLOGNA SANDWICH FILLING

YOUNG HOPEFULS BY DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Too solicitous Mom slows boy

David, 14, suffers humiliation and retardation as a result of a domineering and too solicitous mother. During infancy and pre-school years, David was in need of extra care because of his weak physical condition. His left side was partially paralyzed—a condition which rendered limited use of left arm and left foot. Every description of medical attention had been given David and by the time he was eight years old, he was able to take his place in school and play with other boys and girls of his age group.

However, although David was willing and eager to be accepted as one of the group of children, he was thwarted by his mother's interference. David's mother proved to be his biggest handicap. She couldn't break herself from the ties that had been so necessary during David's early life. She considered herself necessary to her child in every move he made despite the fact that he no longer required special attention.

Among the humiliating experiences which David's mother unwittingly inflicted upon him were accompanying him to and from school, helping him put on his clothes, carrying his books, taking his hand when crossing the street, telling other children not to play rough with David, warning the teacher that David needed special consideration. David's mother was continually restraining him and publicly, too. By the time he was 14 he was a very big baby indeed.

The result of this domineering attitude on the part of David's mother has not only been one of humiliation, it has retarded his normal mental and physical growth. When problems present themselves, David takes the sure way out and says his mother wouldn't want him to do this or that. Typical of his answer for the reason for not bothering with homework is that his mother said he was too tired.

This case is more exaggerated than most; nevertheless, those in attendance at child guidance clinics are continually finding the root of the child's difficulties situated in the home. Most of the trouble is a matter of misunderstanding between par-

The Common Round...
By Isabel Inglis Colville
FRIENDLY GATHERINGS

This year, for almost the first time since I joined the Women's Institute, I was not a delegate to the District Annual and so did not have to glue my eyes to a notebook and stretch my ears that I might lose no word of wisdom. I could relax and just jot down anything that took my fancy.

No matter that some 20 odd years have rolled over my head since my first D.A., I always feel the same thrill of anticipation when I see the rows of women's faces, intent, interested and alert. I think I deserve to relax, I go through so much before I even get started.

The man of the house left an hour before I did, and after that, between rounding up six cats, who thought the round-up was a game, trying to keep Stripes, the biggest, from eating all the food meant for their dinner, making sure no lights were left on in the stove, and then again counting six impudent pink and rose noses to see that none had hidden someplace, I was so tired that I was glad to fall into Jean Williams' car, and even the dash of rain on the windshield sounded soothing.

We picked up Mrs. McClure and went on over to Penrose's where Murray was ready to take us and his mother and Miss Starr to King City. A drive in the spring, even through a landscape seen through the silver veil of rain, is always lovely and restful, especially if you've been chasing cats! It was pleasant to see the rows of faces—many familiar ones—though the cleavage has left many vacant niches—and to join in the opening exercises.

Our Collect, "Keep us, O Lord from pettiness," is such a heart-searching one and for a little while, at any rate, arouses in us the desire—and determination to live up to its tenets. Some of us occasionally fall into the pitfalls of our own personalities, but none with a high objective and the will to climb to it, can ever wholly fail, and the Collect pricks us with the arrows of conscience.

As I said, I am leaving details to other observers and only giving impressions. One was the simplicity and sincerity with which the Rev. M. R. Jenkinson welcomed us to his church and the town. He paid tribute to the wonderful work done by the women of all ages, from Bible times till now, and he poked a bit of sly fun at us also. He said that "God created the world and rested; He created man—and rested; He created woman, and neither God nor man has rested since!

We listened to the secretary-treasurer's reports and then to the reports of convenors of committees and we realized just what the W.I. is doing in the crusade to enrich home life, community life and world-wide fellowship.

Mrs. Howard Cane told us something of the growth and needs of York County hospital to which many of the branches contribute. Its growth, its upkeep and its efficiency depend on the support it receives and as there is no doubt that it fills a big and growing need in our community, support should be given generously. From very small beginnings, its growth has been phenomenal.

Mrs. Ross Armitage had an exciting role to play that day—three reports—while most of us found one enough, but Mrs. Armitage carried hers off with humor and understanding, giving us new ideas on the Federation of Agriculture, and with Mrs. Farren giving us glimpses of the Guelph conference which made us think we, too, had been there. Two vocal solos and two violin selections were very pleasing, as was also the appetizing luncheon which being everything a luncheon should be, provided us with strength of mind and body to assimilate and digest the mental food served up to us in the afternoon.

EMMA MARGESON WEDS WM. L. MARSH

The marriage of Emma Muriel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Margeson, Aurora, to William Leslie Marsh, only son of J. T. Marsh, Ethlone, and the late Mrs. Marsh, took place Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents. Iris and spring flowers formed a lovely setting for the ceremony which was performed by Rev. A. R. Park. Mrs. Park played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a white satin gown fashioned with deep lace yoke. Her full length veil fell from a circlet of satin and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Margeson, was gowned in pale blue eyelet embroidered organza. She carried a shower bouquet of shaded pyrethrum. Robert Goulding of Mono Mills acted as best man.

For the reception the dining-room was decorated with white streamers and wedding bells, the table centred with a three-tier wedding cake and tall white tapers.

The bride's mother chose a smart pinpointed crepe gown in larkspur blue with corsage of pink and blue forget-me-nots. For travelling the bride wore a navy blue gabardine ensemble with white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Marsh left for a honeymoon trip to the Thousand Islands. Upon their return they will reside on the groom's farm near Ethlone.

N.H.S. TEACHER WEDS IN TORONTO

Calvin Presbyterian Church, Toronto was the scene of the wedding of Grace Elizabeth Thomson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hamilton Thomson, Toronto, and Frederick John Speer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Speer, York Mills. Rev. D. Joseph Wasson officiated at the double ring ceremony, with Florence Craig, organist, and June Skinner, soloist, providing the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white eyelet Swiss organza over white tulle, matching mitts, a full length tulle illusion veil caught to a Juliet cap and carried an all white bouquet of white roses and swansonla. Attending the bride were her sisters, Shirley, maid of honor; Isabel, bridesmaid, and Barbara, junior bridesmaid, gowned in crisp white organza over yellow tulle, with coronets of yellow and mauve flowers matching their cascades. Best man was Colin Cranham and ushers were Robert McMillin, Victor Kobay, Roy Quance and Thomas Thomson.

At the home of the bride's parents, her mother received in a powder blue lace gown with pink and blue corsage, assisted by the groom's mother wearing a gray and pink ensemble with pink corsage. After the reception the couple left on a motor trip to the Gaspé. They will live in Newmarket.

ANNA MAE CARLILE WED AT OAK RIDGES

St. John's Anglican church, Oak Ridges, was the scene on Saturday, June 17 of the marriage of Anna Mae Carlile, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archie Carlile, Oak Ridges, to James Edward Turriff, Toronto. White peonies formed the setting for the ceremony performed by Rev. D. C. F. Mitchell, the rector, and Rev. Charles Minty, Toronto. The bride's cousin, Donald Watson of Aurora was soloist. Mrs. Colin Crawford was organist.

Given in marriage by her brother, William, the bride was charming in a fitted gown of white satin styled with lace yoke and full flowing train. The hemline of the gown was deftly caught with clusters of pearls. Her fingertip veil fell from a sweetheart halo headress. She wore a necklace of pearls, the gift of her late mother and carried red roses. The matron of honor was Mrs. John Warner. Betty McCuehan and Marlon Duncann were bridesmaids and the bride's niece, Gwendith Newton, acted as flower girl. The senior attendants wore off-the-shoulder satin gowns, matching mitts and picture hats. Mrs. Warner chose pale mauve and yellow mums. The bridesmaids wore yellow and carried mauve mums. The flower girl was attired in pale green, matching poke bonnet, carrying green mums. John Warner was best man and the groom's brothers, John Turriff and George Turriff were ushers. The groom's gift to the bride was pearl earrings.

Matched Equipment In The Kitchen

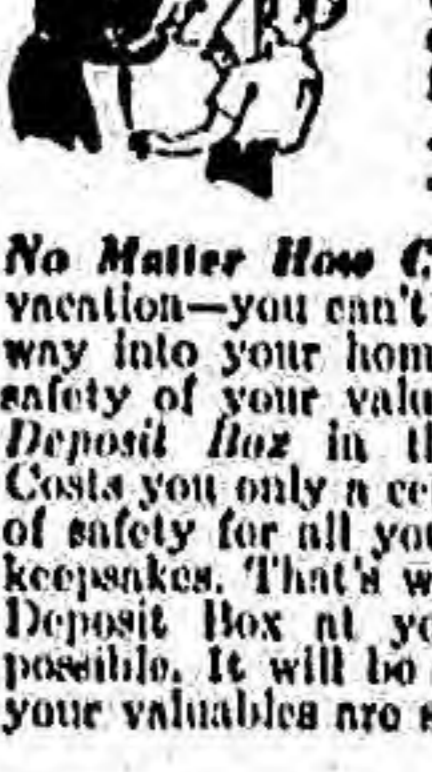

Matched Equipment In The Kitchen is one of the things which, in my opinion, make modern kitchens not only more attractive, but also more work-saving and time-saving. That's why I like that catchy slogan the Frigidaire people thought up for the FRIGIDAIRE REFRIGERATOR and FRIGIDAIRE ELECTRIC RANGE: "Your matching pair — both Frigidaire!" In just five words it tells you what you really want to know about these two appliances... that they "go together" beautifully in your kitchen... and that they both give you the convenience, the economy and the dependability that has been identified with the Frigidaire name for a quarter century. Go see them at your Frigidaire Dealer's. Remember, only General Motors makes Frigidaire products.

Here's The Quickest, surest way I know to make tender, beautifully set jams and jellies — use CERTO Fruit Powder!

Certo is the natural substance in fruit that makes jams "jamt" and jellies "jell" — extracted, concentrated and conveniently bottled. Certo recipes use fruits at their choicest — lily-of-the-valley, full-flavoured — and retain the precious flavour and tempting colour you lose by the long-hot method! Certo recipes cut the boiling time to just 1 minute for both jams and jellies, and make up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit! Yes, you can make thirty use of this summer's fruits with Certo... and end all the guesswork by following exactly the recipes under the label of each Certo bottle!

When You Send The Youngsters off to market for you... there's one shopping-list item I'm sure they won't forget!

Delicious, "nutty" PEANUT BUTTER! Yes, Heinz Peanut Butter is a "nutterpiece"! It's "chick-full" of delicious peanut flavour right down to the last, luscious spoonful. So keep a supply always on hand for all those peanut-butter-lovers in your family! Heinz Peanut Butter is always in demand! ... for luncheon sandwiches — for parties and picnics — and for "good-night" snacks!

No Matter How Carefully you "locked up" before leaving on your vacation — you can't be sure burglars won't pry their way into your home. But you can be sure of the safety of your valuables when they're in a Safety Deposit Box in the BANK OF MONTREAL!

Costs you only a cent or two a day and assures you of safety for all your important papers, jewels and keepsakes. That's why I urge you to rent a Safety Deposit Box at your local branch as soon as possible. It will be your happy holiday if you know your valuables are safe in the vaults of the B of M.

WEEKLY Garden graph

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Canadian

The beauty of roses is such that when the bushes are in bloom the onlooker pays little or no attention to the plant's foliage. Yet the new leaves which roses keep producing must be kept free from disease and insect pests if one is to enjoy perfect blooms.

The leaves are the only means the plant has to manufacture food. Hybrid tea roses do not have as large leaf area as some plants do and consequently cannot spare any of the leaves without having the loss interfere to some extent with the normal function of the plant.

There are three types of rose pests which attack the foliage, chewing insects, sucking insects and fungus disease. It is perfectly possible to control these pests and there is no mystery about it. All that is required is the right material, properly applied, at the right time.

The familiar aphids, or plant lice, often cluster in great numbers on the tender growing shoots of roses, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. They suck the juices from stems, leaves and buds. They can be controlled, however, by spraying with nicotine sulphate, which is available at nearly all seed or hardware stores.

Mildew frequently injures rose foliage by coating it with a powdery deposit, as illustrated. It also affects the buds. Mildew and other types of fungi can be held in check, however, by the use of sulphur dusts. A more recent introduction for control of mildew, black spot and rust is called ferimate.

The roses should be dusted every week or ten days. This will keep a fine protective film on the leaves. Protection is especially important during wet or foggy weather. Be sure the dust is applied to both the upper and lower surfaces of the leaves.

Oak Ridges News

Plans are being formed for the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican church in the latter part of August. Mrs. S. Snively and Mrs. W. Capell are preparing the historical background of the auxiliary. Mrs. Snively is an officer of the deacons and Mrs. Capell is one of the earlier members of the organization.

The June meeting of St. John's W.A. was held at Glen Loney, the home of Mrs. Snively. Mrs. Maurice Beynon, the president, presided. Mrs. W. Capell read the scripture lesson and Mrs. Snively gave the devotionals and dealt with part of the study book on the Life History of Canon Turner.

Mrs. Beynon presented highlights of the West York Deanery annual of the W.A., held at Woodbridge in May. She said she was greatly impressed with the remarks of the literature secretary, Mrs. Lester, who emphasized the importance of home reading by auxiliary members. From a display of literature dealing with better Christian living, Mrs. Lester pointed to the advantage of wider knowledge in today's problems and the encouragement found in the works of good authors, in dealing with general and personal situations. Mrs. Beynon felt greater understanding is to be gained through this source. She exhibited the "Literature Kit" describing the types of "isms" of the day.

Mrs. Beynon also recounted an address by a returned missionary who spoke at the Deanery annual. Refreshments for the meeting were served in the comfortable sunporch at Glen Loney.

Diamond notes: Stouffville to Sutton

O.B.A. Lehman was a teammate of Earl Cook in the 30's. Alliston will furnish the opposition for the up-and-coming Stouffville baseballers are cutting quite a dash in the Tri-County league this season, and it looks as if they, along with Superland, will represent the group in the league play-offs. Earl Cook, well over 40, ex-International league player, is performing at second base for the Stouffvillites and covering plenty of ground too. He'll take the mound shortly, but will confine his efforts mostly to relief work.

Hecus-Pocus Miller, lanky hurler, is carrying the pitching burden and with tuition from Cook has greatly improved. The team is: Ken "Borky" Schell c, Bob Hassard lb, Cook 2b, Nigh 3b, L. Schell or Polly Minton ss, outfield, Minton, Jennings, Cadieux, McMullen, Bradbury, Raxlin. As can be seen from the above, many of the lads who starred in minor baseball, have dropped out for some reason or other.

Sutton, another North York baseball hotbed, has been having trouble getting started this season but threatens to bust-up any game from here in. Johnny Leary, son of Dr. Hal Leary, one of the district's all-time diamond greats, George Holborn, and a newcomer, Moss, are handling the pitching chores. Bob Dunn is behind the plate with an infield of Weir lb, one of the pitchers, Hancock, Chamney ss, and McLaughlin, Shannon, Mountain, Beattie, in the outfield.

Last week Aurora Juniors journeyed to Sutton and dropped a 4-2 decision to the northerners' Junior team on which several intermediates play. Aurora will be represented in the O.B.A. play-offs in Junior, midget, and bantam this year. Doug Harrison of Aurora Dairy is sponsoring the Junior club with Jack Seaton as manager. Friday night will see one of the Aurora clubs in action at home against appropriate opposition from Sutton. There is quite a scramble for places on the Aurora Junior club, with Ron and Gerry Simmons handling the pitching staff. Expect to start On rink floor soon

A start is expected to be made next week on the removal of the sand from the Newmarket Memorial Arena. This is the first step in preparing the arena for the installation of a concrete floor. Permission to proceed was given by the Ontario Municipal Board and the by-law went through council Monday evening.

Plan at present is to have a 4 3/4" thickness of concrete poured in and around the pipes. On top of this 1-4" thickness of trap rock is laid. This is buffed off to a smooth surface to allow dancing, roller skating and other summer activities.

It is estimated that from the start of the concrete pouring until the job is completed will take 30 days. The actual pouring of concrete requires from 48 to 50 hours and a waiting period of 28 days is allowed for the floor to set.

Aurora loses two In Mt. Dennis contest

Aurora 12 and 13-year-old baseballers didn't fare too well at Mount Dennis last Saturday as they dropped two games in decisive fashion to Leaside and Lindsay and were eliminated. Eight teams competed, Leaside taking Aurora 9-1, and Red Mitchell's Lindsay club hammering out a 25-1 win. Both Leaside and Lindsay were bigger and more experienced.

Mount Dennis won the tournament defeating Lindsay 9-7 in a great final game. The Aurora warriors included: Bruce McRae c-o, Murray Chapman c, Ralph Hammond p, Bill Wray p-3b, Bill Jans p, Buddy Sutton lb, John Bunn 2b, Al. Chrest ss, Steve Mills o, Jim Preston o, Bob Murby o. Bill Mundell handled the club from the bench.

NUGGETS SPLIT PAIR AT HOME LOSE TOUGHIE

Schomberg "Nuggets" defeated Aurora 9-7 last week and lost a close decision to Thistleton 8-7 Tuesday under the lights.

Ken Ellison mastered Aurora because of a good pitching stand and nifty fielding support. Bill VanZant, working the Aurora pitching shift, fed Don Marchant a home run pitch in the second with Bill Dale and Don Rainey on the base-paths and Schomberg had a three-run margin. VanZant meted out a similar offering to Walt Thompson in the sixth and with the same result. This time for two runs as Doug Marchant, who had tripled, trotted home ahead of him.

Ken Ellison scored his own cause with a run scoring double in the eighth. "Mickey" Sutton sparked Aurora in centre-field with some nifty catches.

"A tough one to lose" was the way Elgin Hastings classified the Thistleton 8-7 loss. Ken Ellison pitched steady ball but fielding support waxed and waned. A nothing-nothing ball game to the fifth, Thistleton scored two runs, added a single in the sixth and put the crusher on with five in the eighth. Schomberg broke their horse-collar string in fifth with a run, matched the visitors' five in the eighth, to make it 8-6. The Nuggets had a big rally simmering in the ninth, got a run out of it, but failed to squeeze the tying run over.

Haskett's HASH

BY GEORGE HASKETT
Newmarket Sports Editor

So it's Hawsaw, Mr. Hulse, is it? You have the goods on us. What magnifying glass are you using? Tom Watson Trophy, vintage 1911, stashed away here. Many a hot ball clash, not to mention committee room squabble, over that hunk of platemware as probably Bill Epworth, Lou Bovair, "Shorty" Turan, Dick Hugo, Bernard and Basil McHale and a host more will tell you.

Revived from town league competition in 1938. League ran through to 1943. Participants to the end were Specialty, Davis and Army. Army won last couple of seasons. Your Hashman had sign off for it when the army camp closed here. Signing, might add, was the only way we could lift the cup from those good army teams. Couldn't take it from them on the diamond.

That was last phase in town league baseball up and down. Tried several times to revive the league but no go. Guess those long base runways had the old-timers stumped. Being a good baseball man myself, ahem, looking forward to the day town league baseball comes back. Town Softball League trophy taken care of by Citizen Dewey Kuhns, home address Baltimore, Maryland, who has proffered a trophy for teams to battle for. Still, you have a point in it being used by the kids league.

White on the subject of hawking. Better take a bow yourself, "Ab". Fans - old-timers - players are liking those down the memory lane trips of yours. Saves some of the old-timers a lot of embarrassing questions from the grandchildren and so forth when they can pick up the Era and Express and say "I told you so."

Challenges? Pleasure to hear Aurora Town Softball League to function. Hear it's four teams, Sisman's, Town, Collis and Hart's. Thought struck us the other p.m. which might cause a little interest—not to mention commotion. Inter town clashes. Maybe go so far as to arrange an inter-town play-off series. Aurora Town League champs against Newmarket Town League winner. How's it strike you?

Town Leaguers and senior ladies close down for two weeks. Junior gals continue with Tuesday home fixtures, Aurora softballers and Schomberg teams and Lake Simcoe carry on, so guess we'll have something to pen for you. School out reminds us that Tom Dickson, busy Aurora Recreation director, is trying along with Sutton and Stouffville to swing a deal for a minor baseball circuit. Newmarket should be in. Optimists are going to take care of bantams with four-team town circuit. Leaves canal town with a raft of midget, juvenile and junior players knocking around. Won't have much of or any juvenile problems during the holidays if the lads are whacking the apple around the diamond. Would like to see Newmarket in the league when it opens. As soon as Optimists' diamond ready there's no excuse for not hopping in. Think it over while you're vacationing. Must be a sponsor, a coach or a manager around among the old time ball players willing to lend a hand.

Rumors. They're with us all the time. Going full blast of late. Had Davis Leather out of the town league, then the Bell. Spike these—both are staying in or at least Prexy Mickey Smith hasn't any information to the contrary.

Guys it's good to hear about: A little late but still, sincere congrats to Don "Spider" Gibson, voted Aurora Blackhawks' most valuable player, receives O.I.A. award.

Ken Broughton, coach of the Orillia gals, was in to see us Sunday. Orillia out with new uniforms this week. Team is sponsored by Orillia Bus Lines. Ken is also chucking hardball for Orillia in the North Simcoe League. Out in Ivan Law's eek of the woods, Zephyr, they plan their annual sports day for Saturday, July 8. Mr. Law, incidentally has never explained satisfactorily to us how the eadentially has never explained Cup away from Sutton. Now how about that, Ivan?

Let's peek at the calendar — tonight better get over to the park. Midland ladies here for a test with our gals. Laskey Old Boys' Field Day July 1. Next Tuesday, Reg Ball and Geo. Watt have the junior ladies in action here. Visitors must be Mount Albert. Well kiddies, so you're off on a holiday. Enjoy yourself. Take it easy. You'll last a lot longer and finish a whole lot stronger. Come back rested up and ready for round two in the summer sport battles.

AURORA JRS. VS. SUTTON
Aurora fans who are looking for some baseball action will have it Friday evening. Aurora junior baseballers, slated to carry the town banner into the O.B.A. playdowns in August, will seek revenge for a 3-2 decision dropped to Sutton last Friday. They'll meet the Sutton tri-county intermediate club in a return engagement at Aurora Town Park tomorrow, Friday evening, at seven chimes.

Jr. gals win away
Lose to Sutton at home
The Junior Ladies slam-banged their way to a 15-14 triumph at Sutton Monday. Down 7-3 at the end of the fourth, our gals hit back with six runs in both the fifth and sixth and held onto their one run lead to the end. Jean McDonald, Joan Quinn and Clenna Woodhouse did the power hitting. Tuesday, before the largest home crowd, the shoe was on the other foot. Our gals allowed Sutton a big five-run sixth inning to give them a 13-11 decision. Barbara Watt, Jean McDonald, Marilyn Barker and Marlene Martin topped the local hit parade with two each. Darlene Stuffles pitched both games for Newmarket.

21-20 SCORE WHY COACHES GREY EARLY

One fact stood out like a sore thumb after Monday night's Optimists-Hoffman clash at the Hoffman diamond. Respective coaches "Ceezars" McDonald of the Ironmen and Ernie Miller of the Optie's, plus one haggard score-keeper, aged ten years. The teams pummeled each other for 41 runs in extra innings. A two-run spurt in the last of eight gave Hoffman's the decision 21-20.

Hoffman's used four pitchers, Bob Benville, Vic Langford, Bob Murray and finally Ivan Ruddock. Optimists used Jim Juffs to start then switched over to Ken. Russell.

The score went up and down like a yo-yo. The teams scored in every inning but one. At the end of five Hoffman's was up 14-8. Optimists swooped back with a big ten runs in the sixth to go ahead 18-14. Hoffman's kept coming on to even it at 19 at the end of seven. Optimists got one in the eighth. Hank VanZant tripled to start the Hoffman eight, scored on Grant Blight's single, then Freddie Dillman provided the blow that killed father and the Optimists chasing "Blighty" home with the winner.

Grant Blight ranged over a lot of infield to steal the fielding spotlight. Hank VanZant proved the terror of Optimists' pitching staff — two base circlers, triple and single. Optimists swatters were led by Bev. Ruddock, Ken. Russell, Morley Hunter and Jack Hamilton with three apiece.

BELL GETS WRONG NUMBER LOSE TO TOWN

Mick Smith's telephone crew got the wrong number last Wednesday when they tried to win their second in the Town League. The Atomics knocked them off the hook 13-5.

It wasn't what they did — it was how they did it. Towners spun around the sacks like six-lash bike riders on their last laps, stealing the Bell blind.

Herb Cain, making his start for town, hit a two-run homer in the first frame. Bell tossers Art Dobbie and Bill Johnston treated "Hack" with respect after that. Don Smith's single opened it at two all in the second. Art Dobbie lost his control in the third, gave up five walks, and this plus an error and a hit by Alvie McKnight swung the Town into a comfortable 7-2 lead.

Town juggled together a pair of Bell errors, a walk and a string of hits by Jerry Hugo, Howie Peterman, Jack Balsdon, and capped by Ivan Gibson's four-baser for six runs. Bell attempted a come-back, scoring single tallies off Ivan "Lefty" Gibson in fifth, sixth and seventh but couldn't get an honest to goodness rally mobile.

Sodbusters win Over Kettleby

Schomberg "Sodbusters" had a well stocked kitty of base-hits Monday evening, under the lights at Schomberg Park to breeze to a 21-7 runaway win over Potageville in a Peel-York Softball fixture. Doug Brown, Schomberg moundsman, had a comparatively easy time recording the victory as his mates swung for a flock of extra base drives. Howard and Ken. Archibald, Potageville mound corps, took quite a lacing.

Everybody hit with Schomberg. The Sodbusters were never behind in the score-book. Extra base department was topped by Murray Edwards and Al. Stevenson. Both found the range for a pair of home run smashes. Doug Palmer, making his first start of the season at the Schomberg initial snack, fielded faultlessly and had two three-base knocks. Cliff Graham, regular receiver, was an absentee. Coach Bob Moody and Manager "Pike" Cnill and Dick Flynn don the catching equipment.

Cnill's hustling youngsters are starting to go places. The largest crowd of the season was out Monday. The Sodbusters have

AURORA TOWN LEAGUE
Aurora Town Softball League is all set to go. Haris and Merchants pry the lid off on the season July 7. Last week's meeting of the league confirmed the fact that four teams will face the barrier. It's Town, Haris, Collis and Merchants.

KEN MITCHELL PITCHES MOUNT TO 2ND PLACE

The Mount and Ken Mitchell are moving up in the Simcoe loop with two wins to hop into second slot, a bare point behind Willow Beach. Hope was first to feel Mount's sting—was put away 15-5. Joe Case worked overime with his hitting for three. Vern Pegg lifted out two safeties.

Mounties' other victims were their old rivals from Zephyr—7-0. Zephyr swingers couldn't cope with Ken Mitchell's three-hit flinging. Mounties grouped all their runs in the third and that was it. Ron Kester went wild to walk in three. Gord. Rynard took up the pitching to throttle Mount production.

Keswick won one and lost one to Willow Beach 15-7. Harold Smith and Cec. McNeill were opposing moundsmen. Home run king Ken. Hodgins came to life for a four baser with two on. Cec. McNeill matched this. Bob Pollock also in on the base circling. Beach was off to a four-run spurt in the first to lead all the way. Al. Hodgins enjoyed himself with a triple and two doubles. Don Cooper and Don Cameron unleashed Willow heavy artillery, former got four latter three.

Scores are levelling out with Keswick 10 to Vandorf 5—Harold Smith over two Vandorf hurlers, Lloyd Preston and Harold Botham. Keswick got the jump in the first two frames and five runs in the sixth. Tom Hare on three and Ken. Hodgins, double and single, cornered the hit market. Trip across the border must have done Coach Art Starr good—led Vandorf stick work with three. Harry Lavender slapped two out of the reach of eager-beaver Keswick fielders.

Hope and Queensville staged a hot one for York Pioneer's picnic. Took 55 minutes to play and ended 8-7 for Hope. Latter needed all their early seven runs to stave off a determined late bid from the losers. Bruce Pegg missed a chance to tie or win his own game in the seventh with one on and two out but couldn't get a hit off Lon. Ganton. Bob English had Lon. Ganton's number all night, two doubles and a one bagger. Jack Perry and Lorne Smith also on hit war-path. On the Hope side Lon. Ganton, Russ Pegg and "Bun" Cook supplied main battling strength. Cookie plastered a homer. Carl Pikerler got himself a slice of fielding spotlight with fine catches around second.

Pine Orchard's acquaintance with the top roost ended almost as soon as it began. Their merry-go-round broke down before a 10-4 decision for Hope. Hope made amends for previous display in the field. Ted Tidman no puzzle, walked six. Lon. Ganton, the winner all the way. Ned Tansley and Harold Farr were main hitting assets. Noel Ash and Bill Dike made the bat music for Ivan Eves' boys.

Queensville, still searching for first win, rapped soundly by Zephyr 10-8 Tuesday. Ches Lunney realized ball players' dream—a homer with the sacks populated. Lester Rizley and Carl Meyers in on Zephyr hit assault on Queensville pitchers Bruce Pogg, and Rev. Elsbay, newest Queensville recruit. Bruce Lackie, taking his cut-backs at his old team mates, punched out two two-basers, Bill Burkholder and Jerry Perry also up with two safeties, latter's fielding at short-stop stand-out. Vandorf and Pine Orchard till postponed Friday due to rain.

Next week: June 29, Zephyr at Pine Orchard; June 30, Mount Albert at Queensville; June 30, Vandorf at Willow Beach; July 3, Hope at Pine Orchard; July 4, Zephyr at Keswick; July 5, Vandorf at Mount Albert.

Newmarket Ladies pocketed a 6-4 photo finish decision over Orillia at Couchiching Park last Thursday after two extra innings.

It was a four-all deadlock after seven and Orillia all but loused up the script in the eighth when Arlene Moore, having trouble getting a bead on the plate, walked the bases full with none out. Mona Dean put away a pop up for one out. Phil. McInnis then paid a big dividend on the win snatching a scorcher headed for extra bases and sending the ball to first to complete the double killing.

Now to write the story of that winning ninth into the records. Phil McInnis, first up, bounced a down the middle single just out of reach of pitcher Irene Patterson's hand. Mary Ellen McInnis, back in the game again, skied out to first for one out. Edna McGrath drilled a double over short, shunting Phil McInnis home with the tie breaker. Edna trying for third was out number two. The two Lois's, Manning and Blight, combined for Newmarket's sixth run, Manning tripling and Blight allowing her to trot home on a single. That was the game 6-4. Arlene Moore put Orillia away in order in the ninth not allowing the luxury of hoisting the pill out of the infield.

Headlined was pitching. Jackie and Arlene Moore made it a family triumph. Jackie "the old gal," went along nicely for six frames allowing Orillia one run, that in the fourth. Jackie had control trouble in the sixth. Coach Chas. VanZant called in "The Kid" Arlene to stop Orillia. Arlene did just this at the cost of a run and Orillia broke through for two in the seventh to tie it at four all. Irene Patterson on the Orillia mound pitched steady ball, keeping the 13 hits Newmarket gathered well scattered. Phil McInnis, Mary Ellen McInnis, Edna McGrath, Pauline Bovair and Jackie Moore swung for two hits each. The Moore gals allowed seven hits, Mabel Nalsmith smote out two of these.

HALL DRIVES TIREMEN OVER AURORA 7-1

Aurora's softball entry in the North York major softball loop lost 7-1 to the front running Lansing "Tiremen" at the Aurora Town Park Tuesday. They lost it mainly because they couldn't get hot to fast and slow mixtures shot at them by Geo. Hall on the winners' mound. Hall was hot—he allowed Aurora only four hits. Hall whiffed only four but his fielding support was practically all tight.

Andy O'Neill on the Aurora bill was more generous with the hits. Lansing picked up 12—but Andy's main fault was an over abundance of home run balls, one each to Ray McGhee, Jack Statham and John McKinley, all coming with the bases empty. Still it would have been enough to swing the game itself.

Only once did Aurora find the right combination. This was in the third. "Red" Castle looped a Texas leaguer into centre field and Ted Mosler gave him the transportation to the pay-off-window with his two-base wrong-field double. From there on Hall was unbeatible, allowing only one hit, to Earl MacDonald, a single in the sixth. Aurora's other bingle fell to outfielder Mickey Sutton in the second.

Lansing "Tiremen" produced two runs in the third to cop the lead and outside of another two in the seventh, homers did the rest. Both teams featured sparkling infielding. But when it came to laying the laurels on the line, Bruce McMillan can't be overlooked. McMillan ranged the Aurora short-stop territory in great style to get everything lifted off his way. His mate across the keystone snek, "Junior" Stephenson, also pulled off a wham-doozler of a grab.

Tuesday evening tennis Classes for Juniors

Kelth Davis, who has been conducting classes for juniors at the tennis courts each Saturday morning, intends to add an evening class on Tuesday evenings at 6:30 p.m. The 9:30 a.m. Saturday instructional periods will continue.

Kelth reports two dozen junior members at the Saturday morning classes and hopes to see an increase in the number for Tuesday. All juniors are welcome on either Saturday or Tuesday. There is also a good report on the number of junior members with the Newmarket Tennis Club. It has now reached 25.
